Objectives

Does staff have the tools, resources, and training needed to support clients?

How effective is the coordination between client teams?

Data: Survey

- Ran from 10/14-11/9
- 21 respondents
- Collected respondents' roles, satisfaction, and their perceptions of task completion, workload, communication, culture, support, and growth
- No life coaches

Methods: Survey

Processing in R:

- Filled in missing entries with NAs
- Validated data types
- Split semicolon-separated entries into separate columns
- Coded Likert scale responses with numerical values (1-5)

Analysis:

- Descriptive statistics*
- Analysis of variance
- Correlation analysis

*Unbiased statistics were used when analyzing individual roles.

Findings: Satisfaction

Staff generally feels satisfied with their work.

Some differences exist among care coordinators, non-profit leadership, and resource navigators.

Findings: Task Completion*

Staff feels generally able to complete tasks as expected on a regular basis.

Non-profit leadership interns feel some trouble with consistent task completion, presumably because of the unique challenges associated with their role.

The error bars suggest considerable variations within each role.

- Analysis of variance indicates significant difference between non-profit leadership and resource navigators only.

*Defined as the frequency of completing tasks accurately and on time (1:Never, 2: Rarely, 3: Sometimes, 4: Often, 5: Always)

Findings: Client Load*

Care coordinators typically take on more clients.

Managing more clients is linked to higher perceived productivity for care coordinators (positive, marginally significant correlation) but not for therapists (positive, insignificant correlation).

For therapists, we find minimal evidence that heavier client loads relate to lower perceived productivity (negative, insignificant correlation).

*Client load is defined as the number of clients currently serving.

Findings: Training

Role	Client-Focused	Technical	Role-Specific
Non-profit leadership	3.00	3.00	3.25
Resource navigator	3.43	4.14	4.07
Care coordinator	3.48	4.25	4.50
Therapist	3.94	4.25	4.38
Case manager	4.44	3.33	4.62

More adequate training is associated with higher perceived productivity (positive, marginally significant correlation).

- Especially so for resource navigators (positive, significant correlation)

Findings: Internal Support

Role	Communi- cation	Culture	Trouble- shooting	Growth
Non-profit leadership	3.62	4.00	3.62	4.62
Therapist	4.19	4.62	3.75	4.62
Care coordinator	4.31	4.69	4.19	4.25
Resource navigator	4.36	4.54	4.25	4.39
Case manager	4.88	4.94	4.62	4.81

Better internal support has a similar positive effect on productivity (positive, marginally significant correlation).

- Especially so for resource navigators (positive, significant correlation)

*Experience is measured on a 1-5 scale (1: Poor, 2: Somewhat poor, 3: Acceptable, 4: Good, 5: Excellent).

Reflections & Future Directions

Survey design:

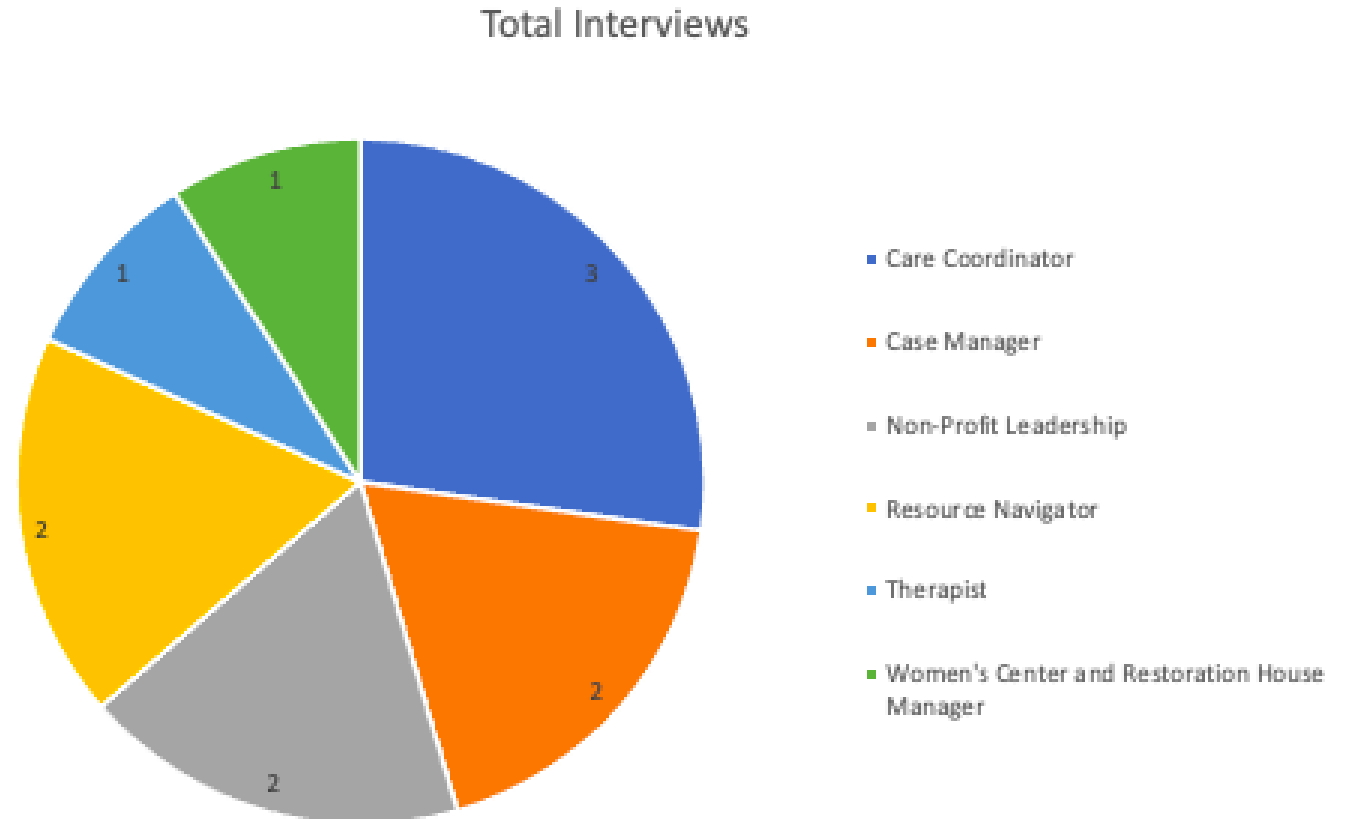

- Self-report bias
- Few objective and client-centered metrics
- One-sided responses*
- Cross-sectional*

Statistical analysis:

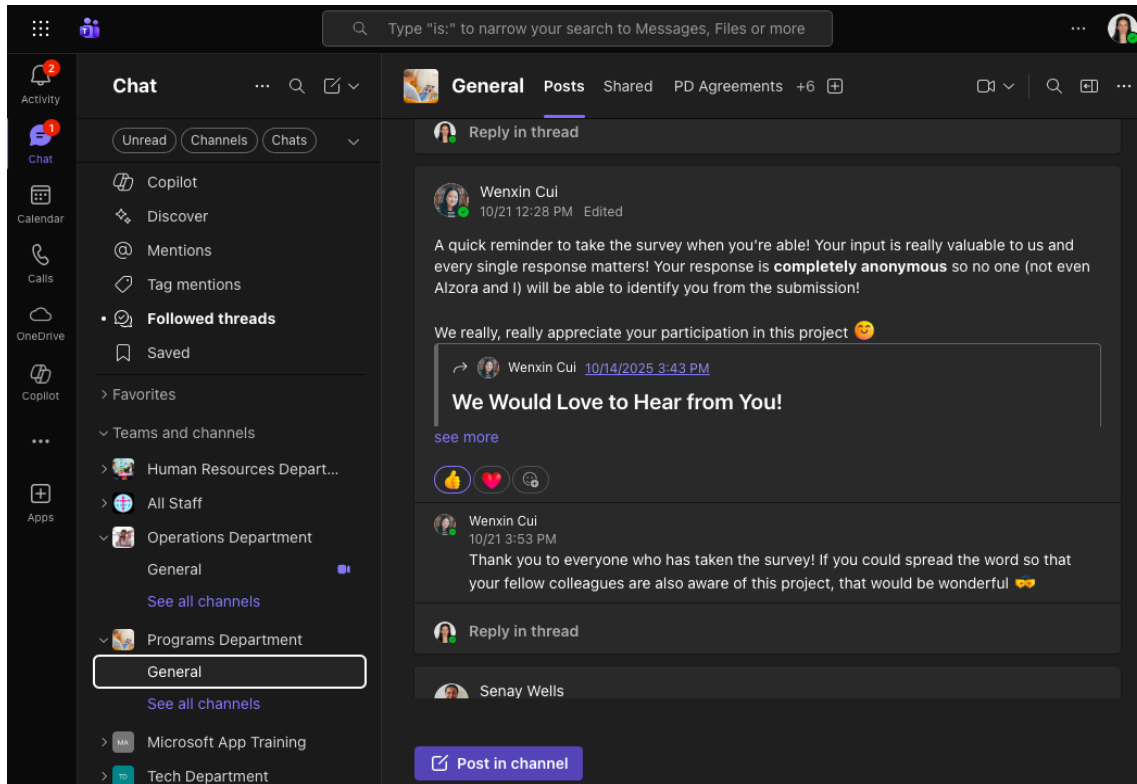

- Limited control for confounders*
- Potential assumption violations
- Lacking context

Data: Interviews

- About the interviews:
 - Ran from 10/23-11/10.
 - Collected responses on roles, satisfaction, training, tools, resources, communication, etc.
- About the responses:
 - 11 interviews
 - No interviews with Life Coach
 - Newest staff starting in Aug

Methods: Interviews

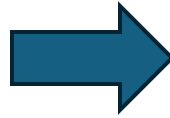

- Communication and interviews were conducted through Teams.*
- Transcripts and notes were taken for each interview.
- Responses transferred to Excel.
- Excel tools used to analyze notes, find percentages, patterns, etc.

Program Department Interview Guide

Step 2:

- 6-10 focused questions (open ended, allow time for reflection)
- Role and Responsibilities
 - Can you explain your role, your responsibilities, and how long you've been here?
 - Reaching out to clients. Monthly if possible. Assess their services and case management. Complete 1 workshop. Remote. 1 year.
 - In-person, hybrid, or remote.
 - What made you consider Thaddeus for an internship?
 - Likes the organization. Values are nice. Wants a masters in social work.
 - Do you have any experience in a previous non-profits?
- Operations
 - What processes help you complete your work?
 - Working with other care coordinators and buddy is instrumental. One note is confusing. Doesn't outline role. Needs refinement.
 - What processes slow down your work? What is your biggest roadblock?
 - Google voice. Hard to get in touch and difficult to understand who's who.
 - How do you feel about the training and resources available to you?
 - Training and resources are good. But responsibilities are not properly outlined. Confusion about role and where to pick up slack for others.
- Organizations
 - How do you get assistance from others in the department and how long does it take?
 - Reach out to people individually. Normally answered within a day. Sometimes longer with HR. Confusion on how to contact Kimmie or how to get certain answers.
 - How do you feel about the tools and resources available to you at Thaddeus? (This includes Teams, sharepoint, etc.)
 - Underutilized. Like linkedin. Microsoft bookings is helpful.
 - What is the most significant resource, tool, or support you feel is missing that would help you perform your role more effectively?
 - Individual google voice accounts – understand about oversight but it's difficult. Better to have individual. Not interrupting conversations.

OK, I think it's working one more time. I just want to reiterate everything that is shared in this interview or with me in general is confidential. Just know that before we get started.
Alright.

CC 1 0:22

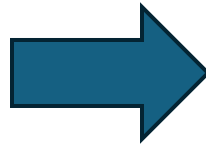

Yes, thank you.

Me0:24

OK, and now I'm going to ask you a series of questions. There's a couple of different themes. The first theme really goes over your role and responsibilities. In your own words, can you explain your role and your responsibilities?

CC 1 0:41

So I am a care coordinator. I would say the majority of my work consists of reaching out to clients and making sure they're happy with their services at Thaddeus. Kind of similar to what you do with us. I reach out to clients and.
About monthly, if I can get a hold of them and try to, you know, assess their services, whether it be with therapy or with their case management or I believe the other case

Here's what works well based on the transcript.

📄 Interview with CC 1

Key strengths emerge in four areas.

Role execution

- Clear intake workflow. Clients move smoothly from registration to service assignment.
- Consistent monthly check-ins. You track service quality across therapy, case management, and coaching.
- Strong interim support. You bridge gaps when clients lack an assigned case manager.

Team leadership

- Effective training approach. You onboard new care coordinators and walk them through early cases.
- Practical delegation. You distribute client tasks during high-volume periods.
- Notebook development. You created operational language, scripts, and processes for a new role.

Collaboration and communication

- Reliable responsiveness. You reply quickly and help teammates within a day.
- Strong rapport-building skills. You handle trauma-impacted clients with patience and empathy.
- Useful cross-team discussions. Client meetings help you coordinate with therapists and case managers.

Internal practices that support your work

- Teams structure works. Department meetings and shared communication spaces help you stay aligned.
- Big buddy system helps new interns adjust.
- Resource navigation notebook offers strong reference material for client needs.
- Flexibility to create new workshops, forms, and processes encourages problem-solving.

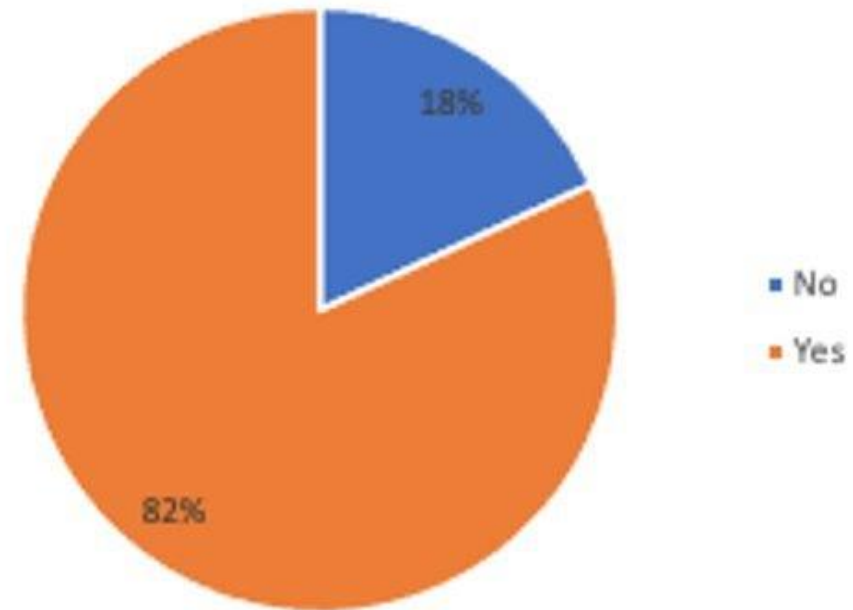

Findings

- Satisfaction:
 - 1/3 of interviewees shared unprompted positive feedback.
- Training:
 - Positive and negative feedback. 82% made mention of needing improvement.
- Communication & Support:
 - Universal positive responses to buddy system, but challenges with internal support.
- Resources:
 - Positive and negative feedback. 4 out of 6 roles said resources should be improved.
- Meetings:
 - Large support for department meetings and 5 out of 6 roles expressed negative feelings towards all staff meetings.

"Everybody's just so nice. Everybody's really friendly and approachable."

-Case Manager

Training Needs Improvement

Reflections & Future Directions

- Back-and-forth communication
- Scheduling
- Expectations
- Lacking client-focused questions
- Alignment
- Timing
- Collaboration

Recommendations

- Training:
 - More well-rounded and specific trainings for each role.
 - Create clear outlines and structures for each role.
 - Provide examples and set clear expectations.
- Communication & Support:
 - Track and response log for client calls.
 - Less people interacting with clients.
 - Department representatives to help streamline the sharing of information between leadership and team, help with approvals, etc.
 - Personal responsibility
- Resources:
 - Clean up and consolidate resources.
 - Provide templates.
- Meetings:
 - Identify needs and benefits.
 - Reconsider attendance and scheduling.
